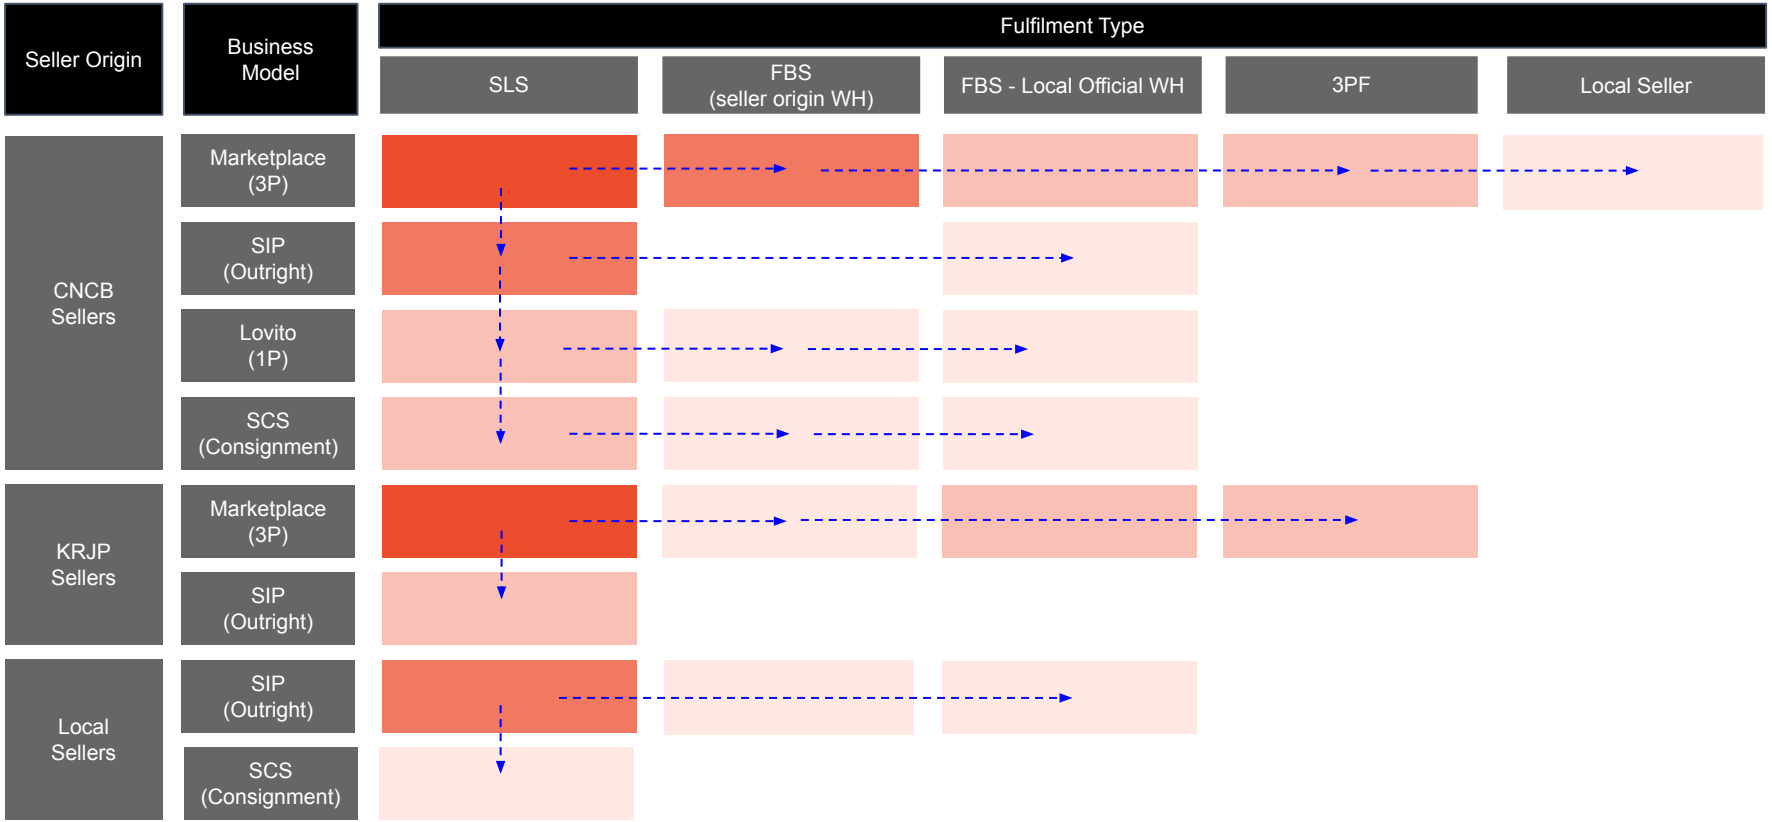
CB Business Structure (3.0): .. and after which more collaborations across different business model and fulfilment type. These changes introduces great level difficulty and complexity when it comes to budgeting ..



Biz Launch

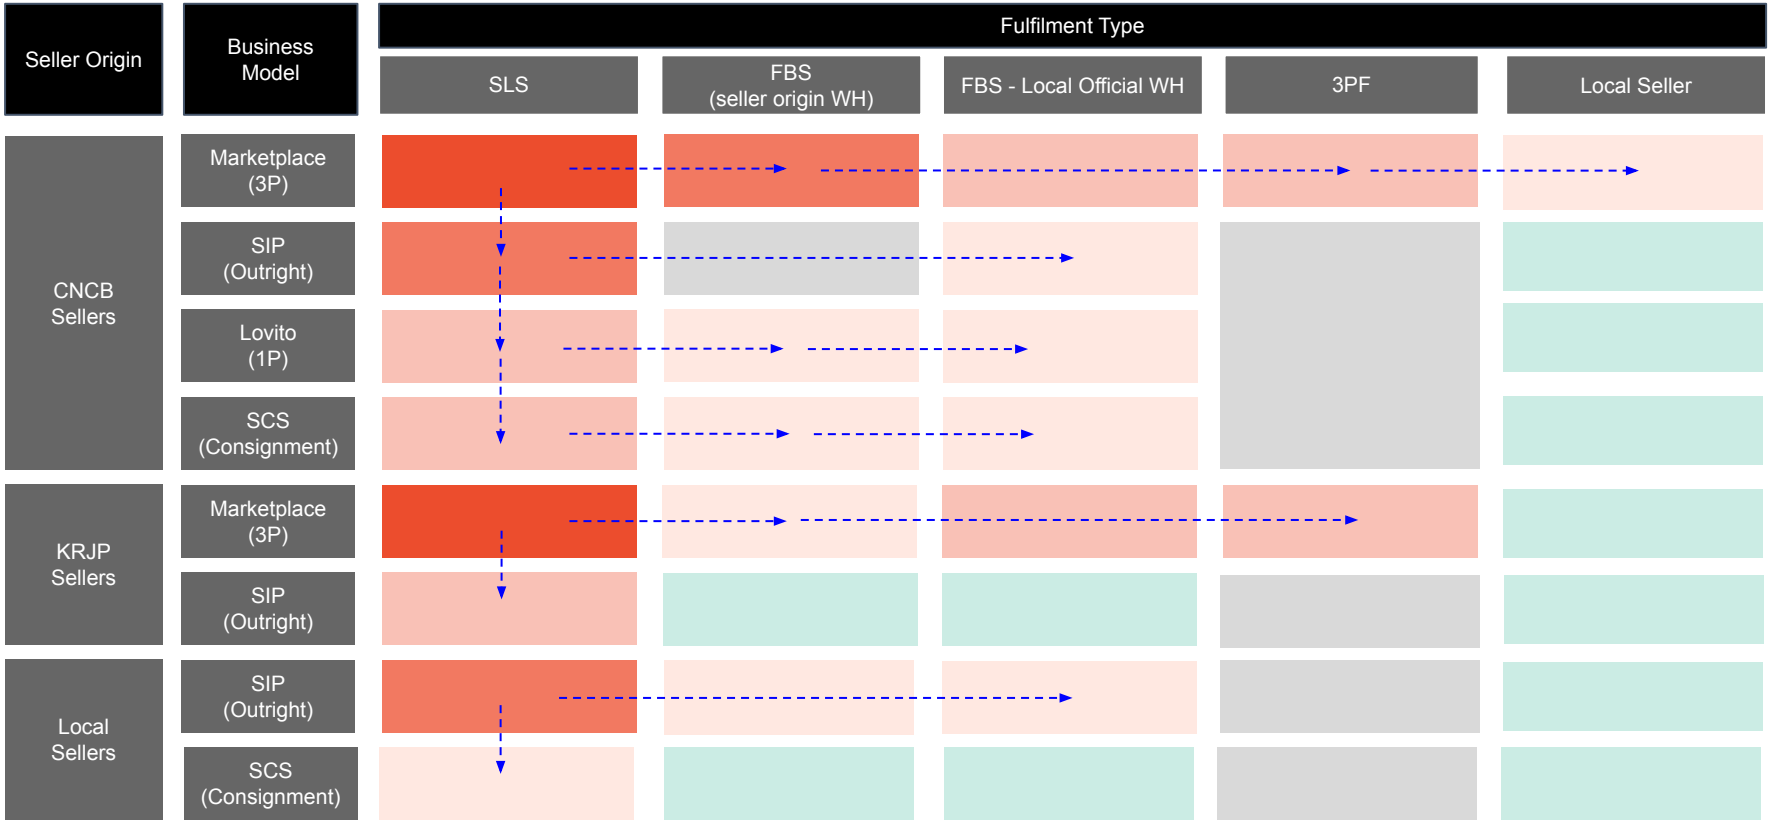
CB Business Structure (4.0): with possibly more complex business models in the future



Biz Launch

Early — Recent

With the increasing complexity, the amount of effort from each team is substantial during each budget cycle

2,140 line items from each mkt FP&A

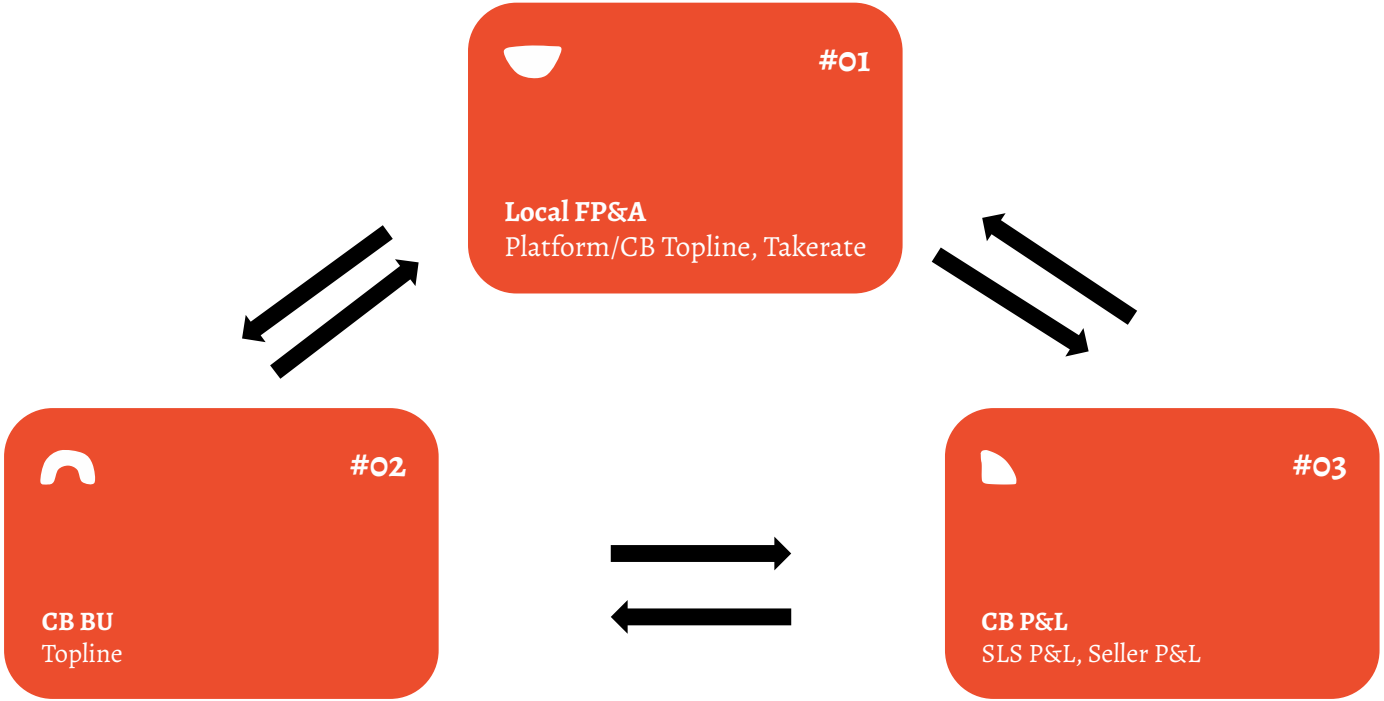
14,816 line items from CB BU

5,992 line items from CB FP&A estimation

22,948 line items to calculate out

873 line items to submit through Hyperion

Starting from this year, more responsibility and more collaborations required to work together for an accurate and timely response to budgeting



To enable better collaboration, we developed a “1+3” framework

“1”

All In One File

(one stop file to serve for weekly projection and budgeting)

“3”

Timer
(Ensure timely submission both local and CB)

Error Tracker
(cross validating inputs from both local and CB to prevent inaccuracy)

ScoreCard
(Tracking budgeting accuracy across stakeholders)

"1" - CB launched "All-in-one File" across all mkts within short notice, each mkt were very cooperative and quick to adopt it

1 Consolidation

- Updates from any BUs will be synced
- Local team to be aware of any changes
- Local able to re-adjust numbers quickly with less downtime

Higher Visibility

2 Validation

- Cross checks between Local and CB FP&A inputs
- Less prone to human error (one file vs. multiple files)
- All parties aligned on final output after any revisions made

Less Errors

3 "One-stop" file

- Able to find key details needed within this file
- Migrated certain process here (e.g. Weekly EOM projections)
- To in-built more features and process (e.g. CBWH)

More Convenience
